WATER SUPPLY CONSIDERATION

Commissioner Joseph F. MacKnight Says Rights ought to Be Attended To.

HE FILES HIS ANNUAL REPORT

Says Many of Titles Held by City Are Clouded by Erroneous Tax Sales And Levies.

The annual report of Land and Wa er Commissioner Joeph F. MacKnight was filed yesterday afternoon, with the mayor, and includes recommendations which will probably be given careful consideration by his honor, especially with reference to the water supply. The emmissioner calls the mayor's attention to the action of the last administration in having appropriated $300,000 for a Parley's canyon reservoir without having first secured to the city the surplus and primary water rights to the waters of Parley's canyon and Mountain Dell streams, intended for conservation,

The report shows the total cost of maintenance of the land and water department for 1903 as $7,516.01, with receipts, credits and inventory amounting to $1,925.13, or as net cost of maintenance, $5,590.88. The total value of real property and improvements owned by Salt Lake City corporation is given as $1,340,310.06, the real estate proper at $709,425.03 and the improve-ments at $630,884.03. The city's real estate possessions include fire depart-ments, half interest in city and county building, storehouses, barns and shops public parks, watersheds, canal lands, isolation hospital, sewer farms, vacant city lots and lands in Summit, Utah and Morgan counties.

CLOUDED TITLES.

The commissioner reports that many of the titles held by the city are clouded by erroneous tax levies and sales, and there are cases of occupancy of city lands by persons helding undisputed possession from eight to 15 pears. The commissioner further says "A most flagrant case is the Sederlof and Strong ranches, consisting of 320 acres and improvements in Emigration wherein the city paid $4,500 for the pos-sessory rights of the occupants, which rights expired immediately upon the occupants removing from the premises, but so far as I am able to ascertain, the city made no effort to perfect its title and the whole property was lost." So a systematic compilation of the records is advised and an ordinance requiring "the parties selling real estate to the city to furnish an abstract of title before receiving payment." He shows that the city holds considerable property under tax titles, which must perfected to save the city further

$1,340,319.06 WATER RESOURCES.

In the matter of increasing the city's water resources, the commissioner has

The most substantially promising one of these appears to be the Big Cotton-wood water. If the city could acquire one-half of the Big Cottonwood stream (which would be nearly double the amount now obtained from all sources), the 50 per cent acquired could be increased at least 25 per cent in addition by the storage of the early season's waste water, which amounts to nearly 25 per cent of the entire stream, thus giving the city, free of charge, practically 25 per cent of the Cottonwood water. This is a tangible proposition, and does not necessitate the expenditure of a large amount of money, without a visible benefit, measurable with the outlay.

This water may be partly acquired by the exchange of Utah lake water as part of the consideration, as the city does not use its entire portion of the water from the Jordan river, as apand partly by purchase of lands with water rights in the Big Cottonwood under existing conditions, has not proven satisfactory in the past, owing to the difference in the quality of the wa ter, which the city has to exchange, and the exaction of unreasonable differences by the parties making the exchange. I believe that the acquirement of these water rights by direct purchase is the only means promising fairness to the city. REDUCING UTAH LAKE.

The commissioner says: 'It seems to me a dangerous depending upon the delivery of Utah lake water, through the Jordan and Salt Lake City canal, for the continu-ity of its right to practically all of the Parley's canyon stream and taking out water from the lake by operation of pumps, beyond its natural supply, thus continually lowering the lake, for the city to build reservoirs, or to spend any money at all, without first having secured itself in the matter to at least a reasonable degree,

"Reducing the Utah lake waters on the one hand and conserving the waters of Parley's canyon on the other, under present conditions, would seem to be diametrically opposite to the interest which the city has in both of these water sources. For to lower the lake will naturally reduce the city's portion of the waters there, and if the city failed to supply the amount of water, determined to be the nominal flow of Parley's creek, through its canal, the inevitable result would be the forfeiture of its rights to the .818 per cent of the Parley's water.

cent of the Parley's water.

"However, if the reservoir is constructed before the water rights are purchased, the city will be subjected the exaction of unreasonable and exhorbitant prices, and would be compelled to submit to the extortion to obtain the water necessary for is reser

In closing Commissioner MacKnight states that the percolation system in operation on the ranches owned by the city in Mountain Dell and Parley's canyon have proven successful in preserving the water of Parley's creek. He advises the protection of the city's water sheds and stringent ordinances to prevent fouling the water.

"Maloney's Wedding" was the cause of much hearty laughter at the Grand last night. Though there is nothing particularly striking or original about the play, yet the plot is amusing and the comic parts are well sustained. The musical numbers were nearly all old friends, but they proved none the less acceptable. By far the cleverest item was Miss Laura Pierpont's imitation of Anna Held's singing of the "Maiden With the Dreamy Eyes;" while her rendering of "On a Saturday night" earned rounds of applause and three encores. Lew Nelson as Dan Maloney was very amusing; another Irish part, that of Mrs. Clancy being taken by Nettie Fillmore in a way that earned much laughter and applause. Maud Sutton was very good as a Bowery girl. Claude Radcliffe and James Bowen are laughable comedians and gained much favor in a song and dance act. Harry Fantette was weak and too automatic, but the other parts were capably filled. The play was moderately well attended, and should prove popular during the rest of its stay here, which lasts till Wednesday

State Board of Corrections File Answer In Schettler Case.

The State of Utah and the board of corrections of the state prison have filed their answer in the suit instituted in the district court against them by C. L. Schettler, formerly a guard at the state prison, to recover the amount due him for overtime, over and above the hours per day which he worked while employed at the state prison. Defendants deny that they required plaintiff to perform work and labor to exceed eight hours during any calendar day, while plaintiff was employed by It is further alleged that when the eight-hour law went into effect the defendant informed all of the guards that they would be allowed the same compensation for the eight-hour day as they did for the 12-hour day with the understanding and positive agreement that each one should, on each alterna-tive night, remain in the prison as a reserve in the event of an emergency or an attempted break. Plaintiff agreed to abide by this rule and has never protested against it, but has received his pay for the eight hours' work without complaint. Defendant's pray, there-fore, that the case be dismissed. De-fendants also filed a demurrer to the complaint on the ground that the State of Utah is improperly made a de-fendant, for the reason that the state is not subject to be sued in a state court.

The change was made upon request of Attys. Christensen and Straup, who were appointed by the court to defend Rose. Dist. Atty. Eichnor consented to the change provided there would be no further postponement of the case. Atty. Christensen stated his morning that probably the only defense which would be interposed in Rose's behalf will be a plea of insanity. Should it be proven that he was in his right mind when the crime was committed, then the only verdict which can possibly be returned is that of guilty as charged in the information.

Big Locomotives Are to be Made Over Into Simple Engines-Southern Pacific Gives First Order.

For some time past there have been rumors on the Union Pacific, Oregon Short Line and the Southern Pacific to the effect that the big Baldwin compound engines have been to all intents and purposes a failure. Several have blown up under the pressure and there has been so much trouble with the water that there has been talk of installing plants at various points where the water is bad, for the purpose of chemically treating it before it flows into the tanks that supply the engines. Owing to the matter held in solution the tubes become quickly clogged.

In the face of reports that have been sent in from all over the system involved it is asserted that President Harriman has given instructions to the pur-chasing departments to countermand all outstanding orders for Baldwin compounds. Under an order issued to H. J. Small, superintendent of the motive power de-partment of the Southern Pacific, all Baldwins now in use on the Southern Pacific are to be changed from compound to single locomotives. This work will cost in the neighborhood of $1,700 per engine. The company is now purchasing the new cylinders from the Baldwin company at a cost of $700 a

AMERICA AND JAPAN ACTING TOGETHER.

In Manchuria Before War Breaks Out.

Trying to Establish Their Rights

MINISTER CONCER IS URCENT.

Wants a Telegraphic Copy of Treaty Sent So Ratification Can be Hastened.

Pekin, Jan. 12 .- The United States and Japan are strenuously endeavoring to establish their rights in Manchuria under the new commercial treaties before the war breaks out. The ratifications of the American treaty were to have been exchanged at Washington, but with the view of obviating the delay involved in mailing the Chinese copy to Washington, Minister Conger is urging the government to send a telegraphic copy and to authorize the Chinese minister at Washington to make the exchange therewith It is believed that there are precedents for such a proceeding. Until the ratifi-cations are exchanged it is impossible for the United States to claim the right of sending consuls to Mukden and An Tung. The ratifications of the treaty between Japan and China were exchanged at the foreign office here yesterday. A special agent brought the Japanese copy from Tokio. The Chinese officials asked for the delay of a day or two to arrange some details but the Japanese minister refused to agree to any delay. This haste is considered significant. According to the latest reports here Russia proposes to concede to Japan no higher status in Manchuria than is in-volved in the formal confirmation of her treaty rights, thus confirming similar reports from various sources published in Europe and the United States NO OBSTACLE FROM RUSSIA. Washington, Jan. 12.—The following announcement has been posted at the

The Russian ambassador called yesterday upon the secretary of state and conveyed to him the assurance of his government that the Russian authorities would place no obstacle in the way of the full enjoyment by the powers having treaties with China of all the rights and privileges guaranteed by such treaties in Manchuria."
